

Criminal Background Inquiry Packet – Non-Associate

Criminal Background Inquiries

Candidates for engagement with Capital One are required to provide information regarding pending offenses, criminal convictions, and/or pretrial diversion program entries for certain criminal offenses and to consent to Capital One making inquiries into and receiving from third parties, including Consumer Reporting Agencies, information regarding the candidate's criminal history prior to hire to determine the candidate's eligibility for engagement. These inquiries are conducted after the candidate has received a conditional offer of engagement, and successful completion of the criminal background check is a condition of engagement. Capital One reserves the right to conduct additional criminal background inquiries at any time during your engagement with Capital One.

Continuous Monitoring (If Applicable)

Criminal Records Monitoring will notify Capital One about reportable non-associate arrest and charges in real-time. This will ensure we have an efficient and more robust screening process in place for high risk roles.

I understand that the scope of my authorization is not limited to the present and, if I am hired, will continue throughout the duration of my employment or up to 60 days after employment ends and would allow the Capital One to conduct future screenings and/or continuous monitoring for retention, promotion or reassignment, as permitted by law and unless revoked by me in writing.

FBI Identification Reports

As part of its criminal background screening process, Capital One obtains an identification report (a.k.a. a "rap sheet") from the Federal Bureau of Investigation ("FBI") using fingerprints obtained from the applicant or employee. If an adverse employment action is taken against the applicant or employee as a result of the FBI identification report, the applicant or employee shall be provided a copy of the identification report. If after reviewing his/her identification record, the applicant or employee believes that it is incorrect or incomplete in any respect and wishes changes, corrections or updating of the alleged deficiency, he/she should make application directly to the agency which contributed the questioned information. The subject of a record may also direct his/her challenge as to the accuracy or completeness of any entry on his/her record to the FBI, Criminal Justice Information Services (CJIS) Division, ATTN: SCU, Mod. D-2, 1000 Custer Hollow Road, Clarksburg, WV 26306. The FBI will then forward the challenge to the agency which submitted the data requesting that agency to verify or correct the challenged entry. Upon the receipt of an official communication directly from the agency which contributed the original information, the FBI CJIS Division will make any changes necessary in accordance with the information supplied by that agency.

Consumer Reports

As part of its criminal background screening process, Capital One may also utilize a consumer reporting agency to obtain consumer reports, including criminal history or credit history reports, regarding you for use in determining your initial and continuing eligibility for engagement with Capital One. The consumer reporting agency which Capital One will utilize for any consumer reports associated with initially evaluating your eligibility for the role for which you are receiving this information is:

First Advantage Background Services Corp.
P.O. Box 105292
Atlanta, GA 30348
Telephone: 1-800-845-6004

Provided to you along with this document are documents regarding any applicable rights you may have under state and/or federal law regarding Capital One's obtaining such consumer reports, including A Summary of Your Rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act and the Fair Credit Reporting Act Disclosure Form. These documents are for your education, and you should take a copy for your records. You will also be asked to complete and execute the Background Investigation Authorization Form. Please read in full, complete and sign the enclosed Background Investigation Authorization Form and return it to Capital One.

Self-Disclosure Form

Candidates are also required to complete and return to Capital One the enclosed Non-Associate Criminal Background Self-Disclosure Form. In the form, candidates must provide information regarding any pending offense, history of conviction, or entry into a pretrial diversion program for money laundering, a crime involving dishonesty, a crime involving breach of trust, or a crime involving the illegal manufacture, sale, distribution of or trafficking in controlled substances. A conviction or entry into a pretrial diversion program for any of these criminal offenses may serve as a bar to engagement with Capital One because Capital One is prohibited by federal law from employing individuals who have been convicted of or entered into a pretrial diversion program for such offenses, in the absence of a waiver granted by the appropriate federal agency.

Candidates are also required to provide information regarding any conviction for a crime involving the destruction of property, a crime involving the use or threat of violence, or a hate crime. A conviction for this type of crime alone will not be a bar to engagement with Capital One, and an individualized inquiry will be performed for each candidate as to these convictions. In responding to inquiries regarding this type of conviction, please note that you are not required to disclose in response to these inquiries any conviction that has been sealed, expunged, pardoned, statutorily eradicated or vacated, restricted, or annulled in accordance with applicable federal or state law.

Fair Credit Reporting Act Disclosure Form

Please read the following information CAREFULLY. This information describes important rights that you have under federal and state laws and regulations.

In connection with your application for service as a non-associate (and subsequent service as a non-associate, if you are engaged), Capital One may request a consumer report and/or investigative consumer report from a consumer reporting agency at any time during the process of evaluating your candidacy or during your engagement as a non-associate with Capital One.

A consumer report may include, but is not limited to, the following types of information: names and dates of previous employers, education or work experience, military records, driving record, credit history, social security verification, criminal background records, or other background checks. Credit history information will only be requested where such information is substantially related to the duties and responsibilities of the position. An investigative consumer report contains information as to your character, general reputation, personal characteristics, or mode of living and is obtained by interviews with your previous employers, associates, friends, references supplied by you, or others who may have knowledge of such information.

You have the right, upon written request made within a reasonable time, to request whether a consumer report has been run about you, and disclosure of the nature and scope of the information that was requested in any investigative consumer report and to request a copy of your report.

Capital One may use information obtained in these reports to make decisions concerning your engagement as a non-associate, including an evaluation of your candidacy as a non-associate.

In the event that Capital One makes an adverse decision regarding your service as a non-associate with Capital One based in whole or in part on information contained in a consumer report, we will provide you with a copy of the report(s) and a written description of your rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act, before taking any adverse action. In addition, after taking adverse action, we will provide you with further notice that action has been taken in part or in whole on a consumer report, provide you with the name, address and telephone number of the consumer reporting agency that provided the report(s), and an explanation of further rights. You may have additional rights under applicable state law.

A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Here is a summary of your major rights under FCRA. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore or write to: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street N.W., Washington, DC 20552.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses a credit report or another type of consumer report to deny your application for credit, insurance, or employment – or to take another adverse action against you – must tell you, and must give you the name, address, and phone number of the agency that provided the information.
- You have the right to know what is in your file. You may request and obtain all the information about you in the files of a consumer reporting agency (your “file disclosure”). You will be required to provide proper identification, which may include your Social Security number. In many cases, the disclosure will be free. You are entitled to a free file disclosure if:
 - a person has taken adverse action against you because of information in your credit report;
 - you are the victim of identity theft and place a fraud alert in your file;
 - your file contains inaccurate information as a result of fraud;
 - you are on public assistance;
 - you are unemployed but expect to apply for employment within 60 days.

In addition, all consumers are entitled to one free disclosure every 12 months upon request from each nationwide credit bureau and from nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for additional information.

- You have the right to ask for a credit score. Credit scores are numerical summaries of your credit-worthiness based on information from credit bureaus. You may request a credit score from consumer reporting agencies that create scores or distribute scores used in residential real property loans, but you will have to pay for it. In some mortgage transactions, you will receive credit score information for free from the mortgage lender.
- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. If you identify information in your file that is incomplete or inaccurate, and report it to the consumer reporting agency, the agency must investigate unless your dispute is frivolous. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for an explanation of dispute procedures.
 - Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. Inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information must be removed or corrected, usually within 30 days. However, a consumer reporting agency may continue to report information it has verified as accurate.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information. In most cases, a consumer reporting agency may not report negative information that is more than seven years old, or bankruptcies that are more than 10 years old.
- Access to your file is limited. A consumer reporting agency may provide information about you only to people with a valid need – usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business. The FCRA specifies those with a valid need for access.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers. A consumer reporting agency may not give out information about you to your employer, or a potential employer, without your written consent given to the employer. Written consent generally is not required in the trucking industry. For more information, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.
- You may limit “prescreened” offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report. Unsolicited “prescreened” offers for credit and insurance must include a toll-free phone number you can call if you choose to remove your name and address from the lists these offers are based on. You may opt out with the nationwide credit bureaus at 1-888-5-OPTOUT (1-888-567-8688).
- The following FCRA right applies with respect to nationwide consumer reporting agencies: CONSUMERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO OBTAIN A SECURITY FREEZE

You have a right to place a “security freeze” on your credit report, which will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information in your credit report without your express authorization. The security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a security freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit.

As an alternative to a security freeze, you have the right to place an initial or extended fraud alert on your credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting 7 years.

A security freeze does not apply to a person or entity, or its affiliates, or collection agencies acting on behalf of the person or entity, with which you have an existing account that requests information in your credit report for the purposes of reviewing or collecting the account. Reviewing the account includes activities related to account maintenance, monitoring, credit line increases, and account upgrades and enhancements.

- You may seek damages from violators. If a consumer reporting agency, or, in some cases, a user of consumer reports or a furnisher of information to a consumer reporting agency violates the FCRA, you may be able to sue in state or federal court.
- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights. For more information, visit www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

States may enforce the FCRA, and many states have their own consumer reporting laws. In some cases, you may have more rights under state law. For more information, contact your state or local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General. For information about your federal rights, contact:

Criminal Background Self-Disclosure Disclosures

Candidates are required to complete and return to Capital One the enclosed Non-Associate Criminal Background Self-Disclosure Form. In the form, candidates must provide information regarding any pending offense, history of conviction, or entry into a pretrial diversion program for money laundering, a crime involving dishonesty, a crime involving breach of trust, or a crime involving the illegal manufacture, sale, distribution of or trafficking in controlled substances. Notice Regarding Background Checks Per California Law

California Residents or Employees – this summary of the provisions of California Civil Code section 1786.22 is being provided to you with the Criminal Background Inquiry Packet.

Capital One intends to obtain criminal background information about you for purposes of determining your eligibility for assignment by your employer to work with Capital One from a consumer reporting agency. Thus, you can expect to be the subject of “investigative consumer reports” and/or “consumer credit reports” obtained for employment purposes. Such reports may include information about your character, general reputation, personal characteristics and mode of living.

With respect to any investigative consumer report from an investigative consumer reporting agency (“ICRA”), the Company may investigate the information submitted by you to Capital One and other background information about you, including but not limited to obtaining a criminal record report. The results of this report may be used as a factor in making decisions as to your eligibility for assignment by your employer with Capital One.

The source of any investigative consumer report (as that term is defined under California law) will be First Advantage Background Services Corp., P.O. Box 105292, Atlanta, GA 30348, Telephone: 1-800-845-6004. The Company agrees to provide you with a copy of an investigative consumer report when required to do so under California law.

Under California Civil Code section 1786.22, you are entitled to find out what is in the ICRA’s file on you with proper identification, as follows:

- In person, by visual inspection of your file during normal business hours and on reasonable notice. You also may request a copy of the information in person. The ICRA may not charge you more than the actual copying costs for providing you with a copy of your file.
 - A summary of all information contained in the ICRA’s file on you that is required to be provided by the California Civil Code will be provided to you via telephone, if you have made a written request, with proper identification, for telephone disclosure, and the toll charge, if any, for the telephone call is prepaid by or charged directly to you.
- By requesting that a copy be sent to a specified addressee by certified mail. ICRAs complying with requests for certified mailings shall not be liable for disclosures to third parties caused by mishandling of mail after such mailings leave the ICRAs.

“Proper Identification” includes documents such as a valid driver’s license, social security account number, military identification card, and credit cards. Only if you cannot identify yourself with such information may the ICRA require additional information concerning your employment and personal or family history in order to verify your identity.

The ICRA will provide trained personnel to explain any information furnished to you and will provide a written explanation of any coded information contained in files maintained on you. This written explanation will be provided whenever a file is provided to you for visual inspection. You may be accompanied by one other person of your choosing, who must furnish reasonable identification. An ICRA may require you to furnish a written statement granting permission to the ICRA to discuss your file in such a person’s presence.

ARTICLE 23-A
LICENSURE AND EMPLOYMENT OF PERSONS PREVIOUSLY
CONVICTED OF ONE OR MORE CRIMINAL OFFENSES

Section 750. Definitions.

751. Applicability.

752. Unfair discrimination against persons previously convicted of one or more criminal offenses prohibited. 753. Factors to be considered concerning a previous criminal conviction; presumption. 754.

Written statement upon denial of license or employment.

755. Enforcement.

§750. Definitions. For the purposes of this article, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

- (1) "Public agency" means the state or any local subdivision thereof, or any state or local department, agency, board or commission.
- (2) "Private employer" means any person, company, corporation, labor organization or association which employs ten or more persons.
- (3) "Direct relationship" means that the nature of criminal conduct for which the person was convicted has a direct bearing on his fitness or ability to perform one or more of the duties or responsibilities necessarily related to the license, opportunity, or job in question.
- (4) "License" means any certificate, license, permit or grant of permission required by the laws of this state, its political subdivisions or instrumentalities as a condition for the lawful practice of any occupation, employment, trade, vocation, business, or profession. Provided, however, that "license" shall not, for the purposes of this article, include any license or permit to own, possess, carry, or fire any explosive, pistol, handgun, rifle, shotgun, or other firearm.
- (5) "Employment" means any occupation, vocation or employment, or any form of vocational or educational training. Provided, however, that "employment" shall not, for the purposes of this article, include membership in any law enforcement agency.

§751. Applicability. The provisions of this article shall apply to any application by any person for a license or employment at any public or private employer, who has previously been convicted of one or more criminal offenses in this state or in any other jurisdiction, and to any license or employment held by any person whose conviction of one or more criminal offenses in this state or in any other jurisdiction preceded such employment or granting of a license, except where a mandatory forfeiture, disability or bar to employment is imposed by law, and has not been removed by an executive pardon, certificate of relief from disabilities or certificate of good conduct. Nothing in this article shall be construed to affect any right an employer may have with respect to an intentional misrepresentation in connection with an application for employment made by a prospective employee or previously made by a current employee.

§752. Unfair discrimination against persons previously convicted of one or more criminal offenses prohibited. No application for any license or employment, and no employment or license held by an individual, to which the provisions of this article are applicable, shall be denied or acted upon adversely by reason of the individual's having been previously convicted of one or more criminal offenses, or by reason of a finding of lack of "good moral character" when such finding is based upon the fact that the individual has previously been convicted of one or more criminal offenses, unless:

- (1) There is a direct relationship between one or more of the previous criminal offenses and the specific license or employment sought or held by the individual; or
- (2) the issuance or continuation of the license or the granting or continuation of the employment would involve an unreasonable risk to property or to the safety or welfare of specific individuals or the general public.

§753. Factors to be considered concerning a previous criminal conviction; presumption. 1. In making a determination pursuant to section seven hundred fifty-two of this chapter, the public agency or private employer shall consider the following factors:

- a. The public policy of this state, as expressed in this act, to encourage the licensure and employment of persons previously convicted of one or more criminal offenses.
- b. The specific duties and responsibilities necessarily related to the license or employment sought or held by the person.
- c. The bearing, if any, the criminal offense or offenses for which the person was previously convicted will have on his fitness or ability to perform one or more such duties or responsibilities.
- d. The time which has elapsed since the occurrence of the criminal offense or offenses.
- e. The age of the person at the time of occurrence of the criminal offense or offenses.
- f. The seriousness of the offense or offenses.
- g. Any information produced by the person, or produced on his behalf, in regard to his rehabilitation and good conduct.
- h. The legitimate interest of the public agency or private employer in protecting property, and the safety and welfare of specific individuals or the general public.

2. In making a determination pursuant to section seven hundred fifty-two of this chapter, the public agency or private employer shall also give consideration to a certificate of relief from disabilities or a certificate of good conduct issued to the applicant, which certificate shall create a presumption of rehabilitation in regard to the offense or offenses specified therein.

§754. Written statement upon denial of license or employment. At the request of any person previously convicted of one or more criminal offenses who has been denied a license or employment, a public agency or private employer shall provide, within thirty days of a request, a written statement setting forth the reasons for such denial.

§755. Enforcement.

1. In relation to actions by public agencies, the provisions of this article shall be enforceable by a proceeding brought pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules.
2. In relation to actions by private employers, the provisions of this article shall be enforceable by the division of human rights pursuant to the powers and procedures set forth in article fifteen of the executive law, and, concurrently, by the New York city commission on human rights.

PHILADELPHIA'S FAIR CHANCE HIRING LAW

ENSURING PEOPLE WITH CRIMINAL RECORDS HAVE A FAIR CHANCE TO WORK

Starting March 14, 2016, stronger protections under the City's "Ban the Box" law go into effect. This means that background checks can only be used in employment decisions.

It is illegal in Philadelphia for employers* to ask about your criminal background during the job application process.

This means that:

Employers cannot ask about your criminal background on job applications or during any job interview.

Employers can run your criminal background check ONLY AFTER a conditional offer of employment is made (final hiring depends on the results of your background check).

- Criminal convictions can be considered ONLY if they occurred less than 7 years from when you apply (not counting time of incarceration).
- Arrests that did not lead to conviction cannot

If your background check reveals a conviction, the employer must consider:

- The type of offense and the time that has passed since it occurred;
- Its connection to the job you are applying for; and
- Your job history, character references, and any evidence of rehabilitation.

Employers can reject you based on your criminal record ONLY if you pose an unacceptable risk to the business or to other people.

If you are rejected, the employer must send the decision to you in writing with a copy of the background report used to make the decision.

- You have 10 days to give an explanation of your record, proof that it is wrong, or proof of rehabilitation.

WE CAN HELP!

If you believe an employer has violated the law, you can file a complaint with the PCHR.

I. Important Definitions

For ease of reading, the below questions use certain defined terms. The full definitions of these terms are included below. Please ensure that you have read and fully understand these terms prior to responding to any of the questions.

"Breach of Trust" means a wrongful act, use, misappropriation or omission with respect to any property or fund that has been committed to a person in a fiduciary or official capacity or the misuse of one's official or fiduciary position to engage in a wrongful act, use, misappropriation or omission.

"Controlled Substance" means a drug or other substance which has been declared by law to be illegal for sale or use, but may be dispensed under a doctor or other authorized medical provider's prescription. "Controlled Substance" does not include alcohol, wine, malt beverages, or tobacco.

"Dishonesty" means directly or indirectly to cheat or defraud; to cheat or defraud for monetary gain or its equivalent; or wrongfully to take property belonging to another in violation of any criminal statute. Dishonesty includes acts involving want of integrity, lack of probity, or a disposition to distort, cheat, or act deceitfully or fraudulently.

"Money Laundering" means the process of taking the proceeds of criminal activity and making them appear legal in violation of law. Money Laundering consists of three steps (participation in any of which may give rise to a criminal conviction): placement, layering, and integration. Placement is the depositing of funds in financial institutions or the conversion of cash into negotiable instruments. Layering involves the wire transfer of funds through a series of accounts in an attempt to hide the funds' true origins. Integration involves the movement of layered funds, which are no longer traceable to their criminal origin, into the financial world, where they are mixed with funds of legitimate origin.

A "Pretrial Diversion Program" is characterized by a suspension or eventual dismissal of charges or criminal prosecution upon agreement by the accused to treatment, rehabilitation, restitution, or other noncriminal or nonpunitive alternatives.

NOTE: Each applicant MUST have their own, personal email address to start. Please confirm that the applicant has their own email address BEFORE you start this process. Do NOT attempt to enter your own email address or the email address of anyone other than the applicant as the "Applicant's Email". The applicant's forms WILL be rejected and the applicant WILL experience delays. - If the applicant does not have an email address, please direct them to set up a free email account with providers such as gmail.com, hotmail.com, yahoo.com, etc. - Double-check all information - Inaccurate Forms or information WILL be rejected and cause delays. - Click "FINISH" to route the DocuSign Form to your applicant's email address. - Monitor your email and respond promptly to requests for additional information. - Request an eID - In order to receive a badge, the Non-Associate must successfully complete all required background screening AND have an eID. - Instructions for requesting an eID can be found in the Manager Checklist.
What's Next	Here are some things you can do to help ensure your applicant is moving through the process: - Follow-up with your applicant to confirm they received the rest of Forms via DocuSign and are taking action to complete them. Once the applicant submits the Form, you will receive a confirmation within 1 business day. - Review the Manager Checklist for additional actions you need to take, such as requesting an eID which is required for badge access.
Timing	We recommend that you allow 2 weeks for the Background Screening Process to complete with the understanding that most Domestic background screens complete about 5 days after the applicant provides fingerprints. Additional time may be needed if: - Supplier/COF Engagement Manager or Applicant Steps are not completed. - Requests for additional information are not promptly addressed. - Inaccurate information is provided at any point during the process. - The applicant is required to complete an international screen - International TATs are highly dependent upon the applicant's ability to provide the information needed to conduct the screen, the complexity of the search and the degree of cooperation of the international authorities. - We receive criminal record information that requires review.

*Note: To receive a badge, the applicant must successfully complete all required background screening AND have an eID. COF Engagement Managers or Supplier Managers will be notified when the process has been successfully completed - DO NOT DIRECT APPLICANTS TO REPORT TO ANY CAPITAL ONE FACILITY UNTIL YOU HAVE RECEIVED NOTIFICATION THAT THE APPLICANT HAS SUCCESSFULLY COMPLETED ALL REQUIRED SCREENING AND IS ELIGIBLE FOR ACCESS.
